Break the Silence! End the Genocide!

For the past 60 years the Rohingya Muslims have faced persecution. Over the past three decades the persecution against them has intensified into a coordinated state-led program of destruction. They were stripped of their citizenship by military dictatorships and have lived a stateless existence, deprived of their basic rights for over three decades.

Rohingya Muslim: World's Most Persecuted Minority

Burma's Rohingya people have time and again been described as the world's most persecuted minority, or as its least wanted people. In 2014, the US Holocaust Memorial Museum's Early Warning Project placed the nation of Burma on the top of the list as having the most fertile ground for potential genocide; the target of that genocide would no doubt be ethnic Rohingyas.

The Rohingya are Muslims. They are indigenous to Burma's Rakhine province in the North West region that borders Bangladesh. There are an estimated 2 million Rohingya, of which, fewer than 1 million remain in Burma today.

Burmese Embassies to Contact

A genocide in the 21st century is a failure of our collective humanity! There is a lot of hope that Aung San Suu Kyi, the long time democracy advocate and Nobel Prize winner, whose party won recent elections will alter the status quo. You can make a difference, by signing this petition demand that Aung San Suu Kyi speak up for the Rohingya and make the end of their persecution a priority!
